Ministry of Minority Affairs Government of India

National Commission for Minorities held a meeting with representatives from 18 states and UTs to discuss implementation and registration of Sikh marriages under Anand Marriage Act.

Anand Marriage Act

- The National Commission for Minorities held a video conference meeting with 18 States/UTs on July 8 to discuss the implementation and registration of Sikh marriages under the Anand Marriage Act.
- Meghalaya, Jharkhand, Maharashtra reported implementation of the Act in their respective States while remaining States/UTs have assured to implement the Act within two months' time.

Steeped in history, religion

- Maharaja of Nabha Ripudaman Singh got Anand Marriage Act drafted from Bhai Kahn Singh Nabha in 1908. It was approved by the British Council in 1909

- Anand Act became unoperational after Independence; since then, Sikh marriages are being registered under Hindu Marriage Act

- In a Sikh marriage, the couple takes four rounds of Guru Granth Sahib during the recital of laavan (hymns) from the holy book; a Hindu marriage features seven phere (rounds) of the sacred fire amid chanting of mantras

- Marriages of Buddhists, Jains are also currently registered under the Hindu Act, while Muslims, Parsis, Christians and Jews have own Acts for the purpose

- The Anand Marriage Act was enacted in 1909 during British colonial rule in India.
- In 2012, the Parliament passed the Anand Marriage (Amendment) Bill, bringing Sikh traditional marriages under the purview of legal recognition.
- The Act designates Sikh religious leaders (granthi) as authorized marriage officers to solemnize Sikh marriages.
- It also allows for civil officers to act as marriage registrars for Sikh marriages.
- While the central government approved the amendments, it was left for individual states and Union territories to frame respective rules for the registration of Anand marriages.
